

VP GROUP : LEADING THE BROADBAND REVOLUTION

VP Group is transforming the broadband landscape across the country.

In today's fast-changing world, India is becoming more than just a user of digital data, as it's also becoming a creator, much like the United States. Dr. Pawanpreet Singh Dhaliwal, the Director and CTO of VP Group, is playing a key role in this transformation.

Dr. Dhaliwal has led VP Group to new heights by introducing innovative services and forming strategic partnerships. For instance, in 2023, he worked with BSNL and launched Skypro IPTV services to provide people with a totally new world of entertainment and enhance their TV viewing experience. This venture provided a blend of high-quality digital TV with reliable internet, helping people immerse themselves into the world of entertainment.

Further, in 2024, VP Group launched Velosting, which is an advanced cloud hosting solutions providing company. It offers powerful features like GPUs for enhanced computing, decentralised CDN technology for faster content delivery, and on-premise servers for better control. Velosting now has become a leading cloud hosting solutions provider in India's cloud hosting market under the guidance of Dr. Dhaliwal.

Not only this, but Dr. Dhaliwal's vision also motivated him to initiate the project of development of 32 edge data centres and three Tier 4 data centres by the end of 2024. These centres bring data storage and processing closer to the users, making services faster and more reliable across India and solidifying his position as a key player in the data infrastructure sector.

Dr. Dhaliwal understands the importance of working together with others to drive innovation and growth, as he sees a great potential in India's data market. He actively seeks partnerships to improve services and meet customer needs better.

Outside of work, Dr. Dhaliwal enjoys cars and off-roading, finding solace and inspiration during weekend drives. His entrepreneurial spirit extends beyond business, focusing on creating jobs and fostering a culture of innovation at VP Group.

Moreover, under the leadership of Dr. Pawanpreet Singh Dhaliwal, VP Group is paving the way for a future where the internet will not only connect people but also transform their lives. His commitment to innovation and energy are taking the digital revolution of India forward.

Overall, Dr. Pawanpreet Singh Dhaliwal is not only leading VP Group, but he is also shaping India's digital future by supporting new technologies and partnerships so that everyone is benefited equally.
